

Importers and exporters in Bangladesh largely lack appropriate risk management practices, often creating uneven demand and supply conditions. This situation reflects many factors including BB ...

Bangladesh's Supreme Court on Sunday rolled back some of the quotas on government jobs, which sparked huge protests that have escalated in recent weeks to deadly violence.

Protesters have set the Bangladesh government 48 hours to meet a new set of demands after the country's Supreme Court dramatically scaled back a controversial quota system for the ...

This upheaval is creating new complications for global supply chains, particularly as Bangladesh, the world's third-largest garment exporter, now faces unprecedented delays at its key port.

Bangladesh Demand Response Management System Market is expected to grow during 2024-2030

Large demonstrations in Bangladesh, like this one in Dhaka, the capital, began early this month. Protests against a quota system for public-sector jobs have erupted many times in the past ...

In response to the crisis, international buyers have reportedly been shifting orders, in one instance $50 million worth of orders, to other apparel-producing countries, such as Sri Lanka and ...

Five garment workers were reportedly killed during the protests. Due to the curfew and continued unrest, garment factories had to shut down production, with the industry reportedly losing ...

How did a student-led demand for quota reform in the civil service escalate into a country-wide movement that ended Hasina's 15-year reign?

Disparities in wealth and opportunity have led marginalized groups to demand better representation and rights. The political instability directly threatens Bangladesh's economy, which has...

Bangladesh demand response

Web: <https://www.upstreamjhb.co.za>

